STUDENT UNION

Corner Stone Laid Down Today

Today at 11:30 Mr. David Stewart, benefactor of Macdonald College, in the tradition of Sir William Macdonald will lay down the cornerstone of our Student Union. Dr. Rocke Robertson, principal of McGill University and Dr. Dion will preside at the ceremony.

Mr. Stewart's trowel will bring the Centennial Centre to realization. Long have the students of the campus awaited such a facility and it is indeed a far cry from the Old Coffee Shop for those who remember its tatty but hallowed halls.

Although many have wished for such a Union, it was not until a said anonymous donation was made. (Here the Editorial Board feels safe to hypothesize that it was another generous Stewart donation). Significant measures were taken to procure a Student Union when this gift was placed in the students' hands. This was in the spring of '64 and since then both time and deliberation have brought this building to the stage of initial construction.

The building itself, planned by M. A. Blanchford, is to consist of three floors. In the basement there will be the Student Offices, meeting rooms - (Fault Ye, Clan etc.) as well as an apartment for the building custodian. There will also be a bowling alley area which will not be completed in the first stage.

The first floor will be comprised of a lounge, cloak room, Union centre, and College Shop. On the second floor there are more meeting rooms, a snack bar and Ball Room. The whole building will be air-conditioned.

As of now the total student contributions towards our Centennial Centre is $57,000. The "Stewart Donation" was initially $1,000,000, but the total cost was fixed at $1,382,000. This means there is $325,000 which has been tallied unaccounted for. We have information from good sources that indicates this $325,000 was again a contribution from the Stewart purse.

To the Stewarts we can only express our most sincere gratitude!

The Centre is being planned to meet the present needs and those of the immediate future, but it is of "open-end" design and may be added to as the need arises. It is hoped that the building will be ready by April 1968.

The corner stone will contain issues of the Fault Ye Times, copies of the Clan, a book entitled "History of Macdonald College of McGill University", an Activity Calendar, a Centennial set of coins, a Centennial Symbol, and possibly an aerial photograph of Macdonald College. After the ceremony a reception will be held attended by members of the Board of Governors and the Senate.

The Clan Macdonald now has a Union Centre!

WATSON'S ADVICE — REVOLT

OTTAWA (CUP) — Patrick Watson last week (Sept. 15) urged Carleton U. freshmen to revolt against the administration and faculty.

Watson, who co-hosted the controversial "Seven Days" TV show with Laurier Lapierre, told 500 first-year students to work through their students association to gain a bigger say in the administration of their university.

"You can convert the next four years of drudgery into a social and intellectual adventure if you act now", he said.

He said the university is a learning situation and not a training school.

He attacked professors who lazily believe that to impart knowledge all they need to do is stand up in front of a class full of students and give the same lecture they gave last year.

The time is gone when student government's major role was organizing dances and football games. "Now they are working for political reform within the university", he said.

Principal Encourages Student Activism

TORONTO (CUP) — Glendon College freshmen were told last Monday (Sept. 18) "if Glendon College does not have among its students more than the usual number of student activists, it is failing in its task".

Escott Reid, principal of Glendon College, York University said "the college has a place for student activists, for student reformers, even for student anarchists".

He said while the college delights in honoring students of high academic distinction, it also has a place "for non-conformists such as the student of marked intelligence who decides that he will be satisfied just to get a safe pass in his official studies", and who devotes his surplus energies to "cultural, creative, or political activities".

"At a university extra-curricular activities complement formal academic studies", he said. "They are no substitute for them".

"There are moreover degrees of value in the extra-curricular activities of students. The student body cannot escape being concerned with the financing of college dances and with the quality of the food in the dining hall but this kind of concern with the housekeeping problems of college life should be of a different order from the kind of passionate concern which is appropriate to such matters as the tragedy of Vietnam, the position of Quebec in Canada, the growing gap between China and the rest of the world, the absence of real equality of educational opportunity in Canada, the abolition of racial discriminations, a concern so passionate that students who feel it will be prepared to undergo the tough intellectual discipline of studying these problems in depth so that they will be able to comprehend something of their subtlety and complexity."

Reid said he recognized the need for new relations between students, faculty and administration in the management of college affairs.

"But I have accepted a post of authority in this college and this university", he said. "I am prepared to share my responsibility with the student body of the college. I will not abdicate either the responsibility or the authority".

NOMINATIONS

Nominations will be received from September 25th to September 30th for the following positions:

- Councillor — Agriculture
- Councillor — Home Economics
- Councillor — 2nd Education Representative
- Councillor — from Post Graduate Students' Society.

Nominations must be accompanied by ten (10) signatures from the respective schools they are representing and must be sent to:

Students' Council,
P.O. Box 98,
Macdonald College,

by 6.00 p.m. on September 30th.

Nominations will be confirmed at the Student Society meeting held at 4.00 p.m. on October 2nd in the Assembly Hall. No campaigning will begin until the adjournment of that meeting and will cease at 6.00 p.m. October 5, 1967. Voting will take place on October 6, 1967. Further information may be obtained from any Students' Council member.

EDITORIAL

FOR YOUR BENEFIT

The role of a student newspaper seems to vary from college to college and university to university, and very often from year to year within any one paper. However, it is with few exceptions that the newspaper on any Canadian campus does not end up in opposition to the Student Council and other administration bodies. It is not hard to determine why this happens, for within our system of student administration there is no organized opposition and there are no set channels through which opposition or disagreement may be expressed. Therefore, the cry is to go to press and voice dissent through the only organ that will make these feelings heard and felt. Secondly, the members of a university press are very often of more extreme and opinionated minds, and probably in the main, join this "society" to give vent to their otherwise muted cry. The role the press therefore assumes is one of an unofficial opposition that arbitrarily assumes the responsibility for the rights of the students.

This campus has in the past suffered little for the above ailment; for the Failt-Ye Times has never yet boasted anyone on its staff who even came near to being radical, and has assumed the role of reporting the campus trivia, and very little else. Furthermore, a weekly paper can hardly be called a newspaper for the news it carries is invariably several days "stale", and therefore, has little or no impact value. It is merely a periodical report on the proceedings of the week before, along with various other 'interest' items, and as a result has little appeal and no glare at all. The average student takes his copy either to check the sporting record of the college, or merely "because it is there".

In the light of the above, and bearing in mind what has been previously said, it is no easy task to determine what the policy of this paper should be. To make it more interesting and readable one has to broaden the scope of its coverage and introduce more than superficial opinions that are likely to be controversial. But introducing controversy for its own sake is irresponsible and undesirable, and is the easiest way to establish a reputation of being anti-establishment. This is all very well; but does not get one very far.

I, therefore, feel that it is the duty of this paper to cater to all sections of opinion on this campus, and publish what comes forth. (Very little has come forth in the past.) It is also the duty of council to see that they publicise their own activities and opinions in this paper. We are not the official organ of publicity for council, but are the only organ through which they can express their opinions — there is a subtle difference between the two. Though this paper is ultimately responsible to council, it is not run by council — as is the case on some other campuses. This is an essential fact, for it means that the Failt-Ye is free to express its own reasonable opinions, and in this freedom lies the responsibility of the staff and editors of the paper. With this freedom, it is the responsibility of the paper to cover both external and internal student affairs, and to see that all comment and criticism is both positive and constructive.

Memoirs of Orientation

Orientation '67 is over! The seven days of tours, speeches, and dances is completed for another year. As a result, the freshmen should be better acquainted with their fellow classmates, a few upperclassmen, staff members, and the campus itself.

Orientation started for most students on Monday with Registration. This year, Registration proceeded well, even with the inevitable line-ups. This reflected a lot of organization on both the parts of the Administration and the Orientation Committee. The Freshmen all seemed to blend fairly well into the Student Body and there was only minimum confusion in the Dining Room lines Monday supper.

One complaint overheard about Registration was from one student who was entering first year Agriculture. In the tension of Registration, everyone questioned him 'Was he here for Education?' Of course he was here for an education!

Campus tours were ably organized by the Gold Key with the aid of Dr. Callen.

Tuesday was a beautiful day and therefore provided excellent conditions for the Arboretum and Farm Tour. The Freshmen spent the afternoon on a Scavenger Hunt and even though there were many sore muscles and tired feet at the end of the day, each student is now better acquainted with our Arboretum. The resident students stayed for a supper which was a delicious contribution by Miss Stewart. The Scavenger Hunt showed much time and planning: the first guarantee of a successful event.

Gold Key conducted the Freshmen students in Agriculture and Household Science to McGill where Scarlet Key members and a Red Wing Society member led a detailed tour to give the new students an idea of the scope and size of the University. The main highlights included the University Centre, the Steven Leacock Auditorium, the Arts Building Auditorium, and the Redpath Library. The students walked to the new complex of buildings on the western limits of the campus to see the new Law Building and the Stewart Biological Sciences Building. One Freshman admitted that the McGill Tour was the most boring aspect of his first week, but in general, each student was able to better appreciate the facilities at McGill.

Another Scavenger Hunt was held on Friday night and was a great success in spite of the small number of participants. Those who did attend displayed a great deal of enthusiasm in their efforts to obtain a list of answers and various items.

A Weiner Roast and Hootenany held on Lower Campus followed the Hunt and everyone seemed to enjoy the food and entertainment.

The Dance Committee sponsored several events during Orientation Week. A Street Dance held behind the New Coffee Shop on Wednesday followed up a very successful party on Tuesday night in the Old Coffee Shop sponsored jointly by the AUS and HES. On Thursday night another dance was held in the Old Coffee Shop with Frosh once again attending in force.

Frosh Frolic climaxed Orientation Week on Saturday night. The New Coffee Shop was the scene and the Monks provided the sound. At that time the crowning of the Frosh Queen took place. This year three girls, Terry Cherry, (Home Ec. 1), Penny Swales, (Agr. 1), and Sue Dawson, (Ed. 1) were selected as finalists with Sue Dawson being chosen by a qualified board of judges as Mac's Frosh Queen. The dances were successful in that they provided the new students an opportunity to mingle.

In retrospect, the enthusiasm and interest of the Freshmen helped make Orientation Week so successful. No matter how you look at it, the students participating in the event determine its success or failure regardless of the planning. Yet, the Orientation Committee must be commended for their organization and continual energy. Orientation '67 will not be forgotten!

Booze down the drain

Both the Faculty of Education and Agriculture Calendars contain the following statement:

"Possession or consumption of liquor by students is forbidden on the campus except in authorized places and with special permission."

The following interpretation will be enforced:

Students who are seen to possess beer or liquor in any form on campus, either outside or inside of residences, will have the liquor confiscated and destroyed by the Security Police, Wardens, or any member of a student discipline committee.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

We will accept any letters worthy of public consideration and will print them if they are signed.

Fee Hike

Dear Editor:

This might be a small point to mention, but nevertheless I would like to do so. The room and board fees were raised by one hundred dollars this year. It is understandable that this raise was needed but why couldn't they have raised tuition fees instead so that I could have deducted the sum from the earnings I made during the summer on my income tax form?

Thank You Staff

Dear Sir:

The A.U.S. would like to thank all the Staff members formally and informally involved with the International Agricultural Students' Conferences. The assistance provided the Organizational Committee during the conference and in its preparation was greatly appreciated.

A special thanks goes to the Registrar's Office.

VISITOR TO MAC.

For the week commencing September 25th, Miss Joan Simms will visit Macdonald College. Miss Simms' home is New South Wales, Australia, and presently she is on an Around-the-World Tour. Her interests lie in the field of Home Economics and she is therefore a welcomed guest. In 1966, Miss Simms was the Rural Youth Star Winner. We all hope you enjoy your stay with us, Miss Simms.

Council Corner

by Harry Smith

This year's session of the Students' Council opened with an impressive meeting on Monday, September 18th. It appears that this year's council already has its teeth in the meat as Council members walked out of Monday's meeting with an already heavy work-load.

Before the meeting officially proceeded, the President showed a film on "Parliamentary Procedure" so as to aid his Council in carrying out an orderly, democratic and properly presented meeting. It appeared as though Council members benefited from this film as their first meeting was efficiently run.

Later, it was stressed that to have a united and strong council it was necessary that all council members give their full support to a "carried motion" whether they were initially for or against such a motion.

Minutes

The reports from various executives were given following the acceptance of the minutes of the last meeting. These were discussed before adoption.

The Green And Gold Chairman?

Unfortunately, our College Royal Review is now without a Chairman due to the resignation of this officer from his position. Attempts are being made to reorganize this group. A student will be nominated to fill this vacant position and a Staff Advisor will be appointed. Let's hope all is not lost and that these people might serve.

Bus Shelter

Ste. Anne's Town Council will provide a bus shelter for students of Mac provided the college is willing to donate the land for this facility and to do the paving required for such a place.

This shelter will be greatly appreciated by commuters, I'm sure. Before this project is undertaken though, official acceptance will have to be given by Dr. Dion. It is hoped that this project will become a reality in the near future.

The Oval

During the beginning of last week undue damage was done to the periphery of the "Oval" by a hap-hazard driver. The Faculty was very disturbed with this matter and did in no way appreciate the thoughtlessness. They, as well as the Council, would like the situation rectified. It might be noted that costly damage could have occurred to the sprinkler system.

Student Union Building

The President informed his Council that the laying of the corner stone for the Union Building would take place this Friday at 11.30 a.m. A full turn-out of the Council is expected and students are invited to this ceremony.

A list of possible candidates to serve on the "Centennial Centre Action Committee" was submitted and accepted. This com-

Ag. Graduate Ring a Reality

by Joe Elliston

At the International Agricultural Students' Conference, recently held on the Macdonald Campus, there was a meeting of six Canadian agricultural faculties to discuss the design and distribution of the proposed agricultural graduate ring. When the meeting came to a close, the delegates from U.B.C., Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Guelph and Macdonald had decided upon the complete design of the ring and who would be permitted to wear it.

The ring, to be worn on the small finger of the right hand, will be a 6mm band of 10k gold. The raised design on the ring will be an 'A' slightly enclosed from the bottom by two heads of wheat. The ring may be worn by all B.Sc. (AGR) graduates from a Canadian university.

As the dye is now being cast, the ring should be available, to graduates, in the spring of '68 at a cost of $17.20. A picture of the ring is being obtained from the University of Manitoba so it may be viewed in Robbers' Roost by potential graduates towards the end of October.

mittee will try to solve the organizational problems involved with the building. It is hoped that it will begin work as soon as possible.

Disciplinary Report

The Student Council are so red hot with energy that they will have met last night to discuss the "Disciplinary Report". This extra meeting is to provide the regular meeting on Monday night with sufficient time to face and solve other problems.

Miscellaneous Business

It was brought up that a stamp machine might be established on Campus and that it might be possible to have the post office remain open. Just think, if this facility is made a reality, you can obtain a stamp for that letter written in the wee hours of the morning!

Meeting Adjourned.

The Mac Reporter

(Joe Elliston & John McDonald)

Question: What did you think of Orientation?

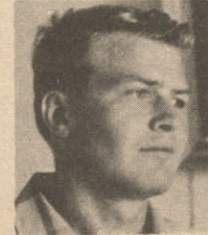

I did not find the people very friendly. I did not meet too many second and third year students.

Barbara Galli (Ed. 1)

I liked it all, except the trip to McGill.

Dave McCune (Agr. 1)

I liked it. I have been used to high school and it is really a big change.

Bob Kirby (Phys. Ed. 1)

It wasn't as tough as I thought it would be. I thought initiation was in it.

Carol Kosick (Ed. 1)

I was impressed.

Simon Sarta (Ed. 1)

It was a good idea. It got me acquainted with the students and the college.

Ken Corbett (Agri. 1)

It went off better than I expected. The frosh co-operated, particularly in the Arboretum; their cheer made the day for us. The tour to McGill was better than other years.

Clansmen

SOCCER 67

The soccer Clansmen are now hard at work and the outlook for the oncoming season is very promising. A valuable acquisition to this year's team is Mr. H. Forbes, captain of the Lachine Rangers. He has assumed defensive duties and through his experience has been a great help to the team since practices began.

John Durkin who is once again the head coach of the team, is pleased with the number of returning players including Mr. P. E. Owusu, Noel Kitton, H. J. Garino and the promising showing of Plevn Van Der Wel in defense. B. Nair outside left and H. Scherphius outside right are also looking promising. However some positions have yet to be filled.

The season starts with Mac at Carleton. This year the Clansmen play 7 games against schools such as Bishop's, Ottawa U, Carleton, Sir George Williams, C.M.R., R.M.C. and Loyola. The soccer Clansmen will enter a spring league in '68. They are entered in an intercollegiate tournament in March and will be playing many of the teams they encounter in their fall league.

Practices are held during the week at 5:00 P.M. on the upper field and all players interested are encouraged to come out. Mac's record last year was perfectly balanced at 3 wins, 3 losses and 1 tie. This year they should be nearer the top.

Lassies Here Again

The fall sporting season is again here for the women on the campus and the hockey team is already out with flailing sticks tearing at the new turf on the upper field.

Hockey practice is scheduled for 5:30 every Tuesday and Thursday. With the active season that the team has ahead of them anyone interested in playing Field Hockey should sign up now and start into practices as soon as possible.

The only other sport available for women before next month is tennis which is not on an organized basis. However, anyone who wishes to play may use the college courts.

As from October those interested may try their hand at Badminton which has proved to be popular in the past. Watch the notice boards for information about this and later on in the year for notification about speed swimming, basketball, volleyball and ice-hockey. Keep an eye on the boards in Stewart Hall.

Mac Opens Against Georgians

This Saturday at 2:00 pm the Clansmen will face a team which has created a major question to both our school and their opposition. Sir George Williams this season will play only exhibition games against members of the Central Canadian Intercollegiate Football Conference. From the results of these games, it appears that Sir George will then make a decision whether to enter the league or not.

Very little information has been received as to the quality of their team and because of this coach Pugh has been unable to set up a game plan. The Georgians are coached by Frank Elke, a former American College coach and are expected to use the information on offense. Other than this the talent which they have remains unknown.

Coach Pugh feels that Saturday's game will give him an excellent opportunity to experiment with the talent he has. The Clansmen's offense will be running out of a double wing with Ken Ross and Rick Morgan acting as flankers. The front offensive line of the Clansmen boasts both depth and experience. Dave Norcott and Bill Holt will be at the end spots, with Herb Dubray, Brian McDonald, Ken Fisher, Bruce Moreland and John McKenzie filling out the forward wall. Jim McClellan NDG player, will be at quarterback with Winston Ingalls and Gerry Goulet rounding out the back field.

The defensive squad will have veterans Al Manson, Dave Norcott, Stu Taylor and Ross McGibbon. Newcomers Al Wood, a converted rugger player, Danny McKinney, John Wilkenson, and Jean Marc Bouffard will help the veterans in a defensive role.

This game will allow the coaches to do a large amount of experimenting with the defense and give them a better view of the team's personnel.

Forty-three players are still with the squad, but only thirty will dress for tomorrow's game. All the coaches have been very impressed with the amount of hard hitting in the camp this past week. They feel that the hitting at this early stage is more advanced than last season and that it was not until mid-season that practices reached the intensity that they are now at.

So for this season, the training camp has been relatively free of injuries. In addition to this, the Clansmen have more personnel and better talent to work with than they have had in previous years. Coach Pugh is confident that the team will do well against Sir George. Indications are that Mac should have a winning season.

A team can be encouraged by its own talent but at the same time needs the support of you the spectator.

D. Norcott, R. McGibbon, Coach Mader, S. Taylor

Clansmen to Watch

Saturday, September 23rd will be the beginning of another football season for the Clansmen. Expectations for a successful season have been running high during the training camp and on Saturday the 23rd, this year's squad will be prepared for its rugged schedule.

Coach Pugh feels that there are several key players back this year which should give him the nucleus for both the offensive and defensive squads. Defensive aces to watch for are Dave Norcott, Ross McGibbon and Stu. Taylor. Norcott and Taylor were both conference all-stars last year, having one and three years experience respectively. Ross McGibbon has been with the Clansmen for 3 years and is one of the most solid aggressive, defensive line men in the League.

Additional defensive strength to the Clansmen will be provided by Danny McKinney, formerly with the West Island Royals, and John Wilkinson, a local high school product.

From the offensive squad, John McKenzie returns to bolster the front line. Another valuable acquisition to the offensive squad is Jim McWellan. Jim, formerly with N.D.G., has been playing extremely well at the quarterback position and coach Pugh feels that he will handle the job more than adequately.

With many other old reliables such as Alex Manson and Winston Ingalls, the Clansmen should have better personnel this year than they have had in previous seasons.

Last year the Lassies Basket Ball team excelled itself and was in no way overshadowed by the impressive performances of the Mens' team. We are all for as good or better a season this year and who knows, with good support the Lassies may be able to make the top this year.
